HSH Prince Albert II opened the conference which was attended by more than a hundred and fifty leaders comprised of governments, Olympic delegations, sports federations, United Nations ambassadors, peace organizations, and corporations representing all five continents.

The highlight of the three day event and something considered a direct step toward achieving peace between nations, was the historical hand-shake between the Palestinian and Israeli State representatives. The hand-shake, which got loud applause from the attending delegates was hailed by Mario Pescante, an executive board member of the IOC, as a "historical moment" and supported the
