

GEORGE BUSH

I am pleased to serve as honorary chair of the World Sports Humanitarian Hall of Fame. So many of us enjoy sports as participants and spectators, but we sometimes fail to recognize the extraordinary humanitarian commitments made by so many of our favorite athletes.

By acknowledging professional and amateur athletes who have demonstrated a winning combination of outstanding performance in their respective sports and good citizenship in their communities, the World Sports Humanitarian Hall of Fame holds up worthy role models for all Americans, and especially for our youth.

The WSHHF's message is an important one – namely, that the “rewards of the game” include not only winning, but also “giving back” and serving others.
